

Joey Skavroneck, a senior at Cuthbertson High School, was recently chosen to receive Turning Point's Compassion Award. In the past year, Joey raised over $1500 in donations for the shelter by working on the Waxhaw-Weddington Sunrise Rotary event, the Annual Town & Country Run. In addition, Joey won first place in Public Speaking at the Future Business Leaders of America annual conference in Orlando, Florida. His topic was how Turning Point's services benefit victims of domestic violence. Skavroneck has also been appointed to the national advisory board of 'Break The Cycle - Teens Against Domestic Violence.' (Left to right: Terry Prince—Turning Point's Director of Development, Naomi Herndon, Turning Point's Executive Director, Joey Skavroneck, and Nico Ianelli, member of Turning Point's Board of Directors and the Waxhaw-Weddington Sunrise Rotary Club.)